

Housing & Homeless Prevention

Descriptions

CAP Agency housing and homeless prevention programs help people who are at risk of being homeless, to maintain existing housing or to achieve transitional housing. Assistance includes short or long-term case management services intended to help clients stabilize their situation and become self-reliant.

Participation

Clients are often in need of housing and/or homeless prevention services because of economic challenges, fixed incomes, family-related crisis, divorce, mental illness or domestic abuse. Transitional housing accommodations may last up to two years. Space is limited. No waiting lists are maintained for these programs.

Eligibility
